Woz on Comic Con, iPhones and the Galaxy S8 2020/07/18

"I don't call gamers necessarily a niche thing, because the hottest, largest chips, most powerful chips in the world we have, are made for video games. And then we in personal computers can benefit from them ... So, video gamers can totally make a market successful. I mean even when Apple had only maybe 5 percent or [so of the] market for computers, everything they would [make would] instantly sell because there was such a popular demand for it. So, I think the fun of games is a big driver [for VR], and I don't call it a niche market. I think it's a really good place for virtual reality's start. I love virtual reality every time I've used it, and I'm sure that anyone who has used it says they love it."
